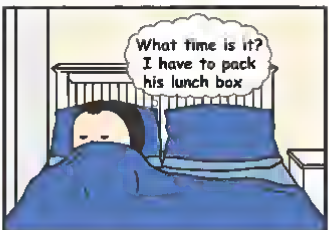
Mev also takes his lunch box to work and his lunch is normally a ham sandwich, an apple and a bag of crisps.



But sometimes
it becomes tiresome work

Mev's Lunch Box

It's cheaper and easier
so most of my colleagues have a packed lunch too.

In the UK,
not just kids but adults also usually make a packed lunch at home.

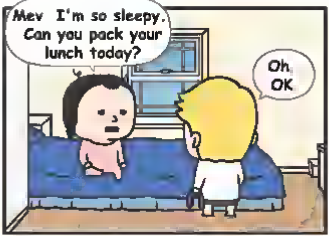
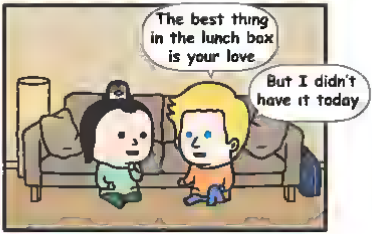
So every morning,
I pack Mev's lunch box
It's my daily routine.

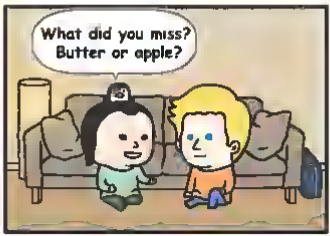
It's joyful that I can make him happy
by putting a chocolate bar in the lunch box.



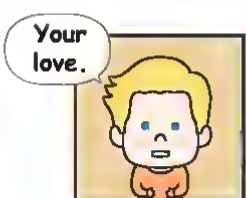
So for this reason,
one day Mev packed his lunch box
by himself



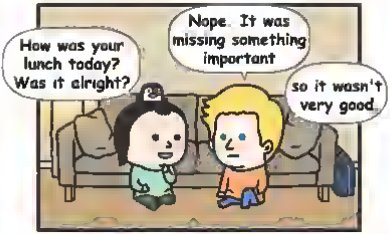
Mev might have appreciated that I made his lunch



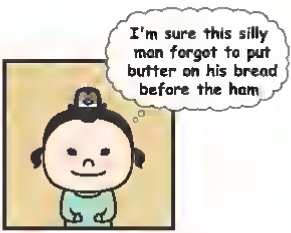
His answer was...



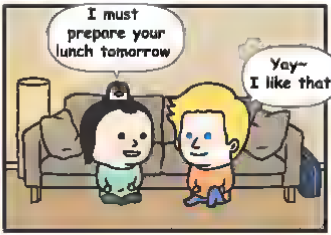
... my love.



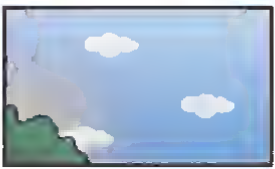
After he came back home from work, I asked him about his lunch.



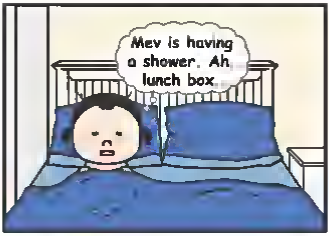
I found that his lunch wasn't as good as usual.



But I appreciated him telling me that.

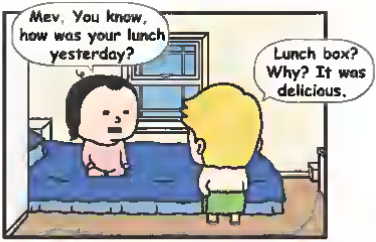


Since the lunch box was not just his 'lunch box', one week, two weeks, one month and then two months flew by.

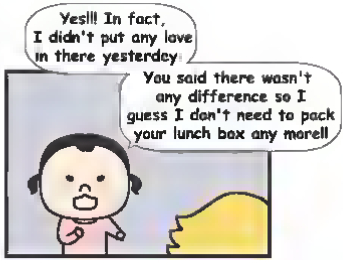


And one morning

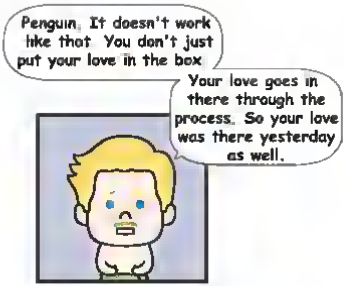
I really wanted to stay in bed so I asked Mev



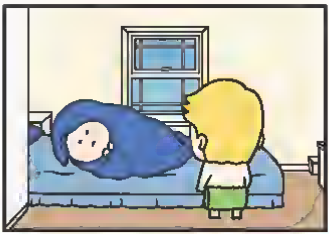
Mev, You know, how was your lunch yesterday?
Lunch box? Why? It was delicious.



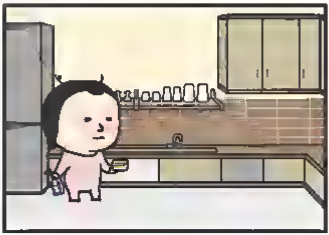
Yes!! In fact, I didn't put any love in there yesterday
You said there wasn't any difference so I guess I don't need to pack your lunch box any more!!



Penguin. It doesn't work like that. You don't just put your love in the box
Your love goes in there through the process. So your love was there yesterday as well.



I think...



I really think...

Lunch box,
packed!

I'm trapped
